OCTOBER NEWSLETTER

Educating, inspiring, and transforming current and future government leaders.

Providing the authentic voice for our generation of aspiring government leaders.

As we celebrate the beginning of FY 2017, let's not forget the successes and challenges each and everyone of you faced last year. Your passion and commitment to public service was exemplified by your energy and resilience; and it certainly encouraged many others to keep moving forward. This new year, don't hesitate to become more engaged. Challenge yourself everyday to come up with new ideas that will lead us to become more connected and more committed to the Interview Candidates Needed!

YGL is planning two pen two articles in the upcoming months but we need help from you, our members, to make it a success! The first article will be about Millennials who became supervisors or managers in the last year. We want to know what lessons you've learned and whether your perspectives about a multi-generational government changed. If so, how and why. The second article will be about members who work/ed in federal government during an administration change. What lessons did you learn from it and what advice do you want to share with your colleagues and peers?

missions we pledged to support.

YGL GKC: Historic Kansas on Foot

On Saturday, September 24, 2016, the Young Government Leaders of Greater Kansas City volunteered at the Buck O'Neil Run/Walk event that was presented by the Negro Leagues Baseball Museum in partnership with the Patriots Run Club. Participants had the opportunity to run through the city's historic and scenic landmarks such as Parade Park, 12th Street & Vine Marker, Blues Stadium and the Paseo YMCA. Special thanks to Community Service Chair Georgette Stallworth for coordinating this great event.

Think Big, Be Innovative, Achieve BIG!

On September 7, YGL Chief Relationship Officer Kevin Richman spoke at a breakout session about recruiting for the next generation in government at the Government Workforce: Learning Innovations conference.

Natalie Matthews, Humanitarian Events director, and Shayna Mazel, Chief of Staff, were in attendance and would like to thank our friends at Public Manager/Association for Talent Development for planning this incredible conference!
